energy assessment that does not cost the earth

consultancy services...

your requirements, our solutions...

Mendip Energy can help you find out which is the most suitable option for your development for various elements like Solar MVHR or Insulation.

As each decision has an impact on something within SAP or Code we are more than happy to work through with you to show you how each decision impacts on the next. This can take the form of modelling your development as a carcass then applying differing solutions to see the overall difference to just explaining in plain English what the technologies do and mean to you.

If you need to know how to make your building more air tight we have some simple ideas and tips to make a big difference, without a big cost.

L1b assessments

why do you need us?

If you are extending or renovating an existing dwelling or property we can help unravel the minefield of all the elements. Building Regulations Approved Document L1B (2006) provides guidance about the requirements for work carried out to existing dwellings.

Such work may take the form of simple refurbishment, renovation, change of use or the addition of extensions or conservatories.

There are "elemental" standards (maximum U values, minimum efficiencies, etc) for most types of work, supplemented by more flexible "trade off" options for extensions and changes of use.

who we work with...

mendip energy are proud to be accredited by the organisations below and continually strive to create partnerships that improve the world of energy efficiency.

building refurbishment or extension consultancy...

The energy requirements for new builds, refurbishments and extensions are varied and complex so if you don't have the time or the inclination to take on this task yourself then mendip energy will be delighted to handle the whole procedure on your behalf.

Whether you are from a busy architects practice, a building company or a private developer we can provide you with a tailored package for your specific requirements.

We already handle sap testing on behalf of Wolseley, covering the whole country and providing them with a service that they know they can count on, it takes the pressure off their own team and allows them to concentrate on the things they do best.
